Dear Parent / Guardian

Re: GCSE History Revision Morning

As part of our on-going commitment to raising standards the History Department will be running an intensive revision day for its GCSE Modern World History Students on Tuesday June 1st 2010 between 9.00am and 12.30pm.

Although this is during study leave, we expect as many students as possible to attend to help ensure that they gain a 'C' grade and above. We are now only a few short weeks from the beginning of the GCSE Examination period, and research has shown that intensive revision now is the best way of helping to ensure success.

Through attendance at this day, we hope that students will benefit from;

- A thorough understanding of the core content for the examinations
- Advice on revision techniques and model answers
- Guidance from former Albany students on how to get 'C' grades and above

Staff are giving generously of their time to run this day and I hope that students will approach it in a similar mindset and ensure that they attend. A comprehensive resource pack will be provided for each student at the end of the session.

Yours sincerely,

Miss H. Gubbins
Head of History
